

The Ministry of Health certifies Biogem's compliance with Good Laboratory Practice

After a long bureaucratic and technical preparatory phase, started in 2012, Biogem has finally achieved a result of great importance, which opens new perspectives of scientific commitment in the pharmacological field.

On 19 July 2019, in fact, the Ministry of Health released the certification of conformity n. 2019/18 to the Good Laboratory Practice (GLP) of the Biogem Test Facility, according to the Legislative Decree n. 50 of 2 March 2007.

GLP is a standard for managing laboratory activities that ensures the high quality of the studies conducted and of the experimental data produced, which can be used for the validation of new drugs and medical devices.

In particular, Biogem is the only Centre in the South of Italy to be enabled for toxicity and biocompatibility studies.

The important milestone achieved allows Biogem to establish fruitful new collaborations with the national and international pharmaceutical industry.
